

$300,000 PROJECT

New Recreation Area Mid-West Ski Center

THE ALPINE LODGE AT TAMARACK MOUNTAIN COUNTRY CLUB, north of Angola, Indiana, will be the focal point for club activities. Lester A. Trier, structural engineer and architect of Elkhart is the designer of the club house. Through the huge picture wall which forms the front of the building, members and guests are afforded a wide-range view of the ski slopes and surrounding area. Opening date for the $300,000 project is set for December.

A $300,000 recreation project, Tamarack Mountain Country Club, is under development north of Angola by a group of area business men and sportsmen, headed by Chuck Priest Jr., as president. Sponsors include Fred Marolf, of the County Line Cheese Company, Leo, Lowell Roesner, president of Overmyer Mold Inc., of Winchester; C. W. Newell, Kokomo attorney; Elmer Thye, President of the Peoples Dairy, Fort Wayne and Sunrise Dairy, Angola; R. W. Jarrard, Angola business man, and Robert Trier, president of Mechanical Contractors, Fort Wayne, among others.

The project manager is Jim Leathers, who has wide experience in the development of similar recreational facilities throughout the midwest. Mr. Leathers came to Tamarack Mountain from Kansas City, where he was associated in country club development and operation.

"The first and only such club of its kind in Indiana, or in the surrounding tri-state area of southern Michigan and northern Ohio, Tamarack Mountain Country Club's private facilities for recreation and sports offer fun for the entire family," stated Chuck Priest, president, in discussing membership plans.

Just off U.S. 27, three and a half miles north and a half mile east of Angola, the club's setting in the hills of northeastern Indiana, is but two miles south of the Angola Interchange of the Indiana Toll Road.

From the top of Tamarack Mountain, one can see the countryside for miles around... the toll road interchange, Indiana, Michigan, and the edge of Ohio are all within viewing range. More than 50,000 cubic feet of Indiana earth has been moved from the wooded area of the club to add an additional 75 feet to the height of the topmost hill on the club site, to make this the highest point in Indiana.

Tamarack Mountain is among the few major ski resorts in the midwest with an assured supply of snow. This is possible through the use of snow-making machines. Amazingly, man-made snow is better than real snow because it is more dense, packs more tightly, lasts longer, and stands up under heavy use, according to the experts. An artificial lake has been created to provide water for the snow machines.

The slopes are designed to provide fun for the family and for all types of skiers. There are some steep, speedy runs for experts, and there are gentle, easy slopes for beginners and novices. Professional ski instruction will be available through private lessons or in class sessions to be held daily. Another of Tamarack Mountain Country Club "firsts in Indiana" is a double chair lift, in addition to a Poma lift.

Tamarack Mountain Country Club is in the center of the tri-state resort and recreation area, with a population of more than two million people. The club is within easy driving distance of Toledo, South Bend, Elkhart and Fort Wayne, with Detroit, Dayton, Muncie, Chicago, Anderson, (Continued on page 5)
