

SKI TRAILS

Needed Snow Expected at Aspen

By JUSTINE KELLY

Host and hostess to the Juniper Ski club at a combination meeting and party recently were Dr. and Mrs. Gary DuPlessis where slides of Aspen, Alta and Sun Valley were shown. The club also spent New Year's Eve together. . . . Patty and Ken Hancock leave for Sun Valley Sunday. . . . Just returned from a week at Winter park are Ken Allen and Charlie Lamb. . . . Also there recently were Harry and Gertrude Dye. . . . Nancy Lasley with three cars of companions just spent a vacation in the west. . . . Fred Bedford reports skiing at Aspen fair with snow needed, but expected. He returned New Year's Eve to start next quarter at the university. All the trails are open, he says. The intercollegiate meet was held there last week rather than at Sun Valley where snow was scarce.

At Aspen, too, over the holidays were Jim and Alexis Caswell, Med and Winslow Bennet, Dick Vaughan, Sandy Tearse, Chuck Winton, Dudley Fitz, Waring Jones, Bill Gregory, Mary and Anne Wurtele, Willy White, Johnny Pierce, Plymouth Shedd, Bud Deiklie, Chuck Kingman, Charlie Crosby, Edna Harrison and Kendall Ankeny. . . . Jess Lair skied at Alta over the holidays. . . . Don Estes is skiing in Colorado during his vacation from Macalester. Before leaving, he and Bob Spear spent a weekend at Telemark.

With many of you still in doubt as to our skiing facilities, let us review them briefly once more. Let us check first the three local spots with a tow that can be reached in a couple of hours. First of these is Moon Valley, about three miles out on the road to Shakopee with fine trails and open slopes. There is a new tow for more advanced skiers and one on the Dye trail that will handle two or three people at a time. The area is lighted on Wednesday, Friday and week-end nights and open Saturdays and Sundays as well as school holidays. The rate for the use of the tow is 75 cents a night and $1.00 on Sundays, or you may purchase a season ticket for $15.00. A chalet offers eating facilities. Further information can be had by contacting Mrs. Robert Bailey at Hy. 3423.

Just this side of Stillwater, on the Stillwater road, Barker's Alps has two tows with runs of from 500 to 800 feet, and a shelter offering light lunch facilities. The tows will run on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays for $1.25 a day per person. Our third nearby area is Egan's Hidden Valley Ski Tow. It is one mile south of Savage, Minn., lighted and open Saturdays and Sundays. Arrangements for weekday skiing can be made with Egan's at Hidden Valley, Savage, Minn.

During the coming weeks we will try to cover those areas which require over a day to enjoy fully and are therefore more expensive to visit. Throughout Wisconsin and Michigan are scattered many delightful spots to ski, so many, in fact, that we can touch on only a few of them briefly. First of those areas, no less than four hours driving time away, is Shingobee Winter Sports Area in the Chippewa national forest near Walker, Minn., on state highway 34. . . . Snow there right now is old and packed, but hills are 300 feet high with runs of from 400 to 800 feet long. The tow is in operation Sundays from 11 to 4:30 and weekdays by reservation. A shelter with lunch service is at the area and overnight accommodations are available in Walker. Contact John E. McQueen, Shingobee Winter Sports club, Walker.

Duluth has several areas offering all of the winter sports facilities, including a slope at Rock Hill with a 1,200 foot rope tow. Telemark, a new area 150 miles from here, offers only fair skiing right now. Write: Telemark, Box 31, Hayward, Wis., for overnight accommodations. On U. S. highway 61, P. O. Box 52, Winona, Minn., is another new area, the Silver Slopes Ski Lodge. Tried and true is the Snow Bowl at La Crosse (Write La Crosse Ski club) and the Rib Mountain area at Wausau. (Write Wausau chamber of commerce.)
