

Hummel Park Skiing Sharp

25 Frolic on 700-Foot Main Slide

Despite the cold, skiing was right in style Sunday on the steep slopes of Hummel Park.

And about 25 persons frolicked on the City Recreation Commission ski slide in the north end of the park. Also, some 25 spectators drifted in to catch a glimpse of the sports.

Last week's heavy snow was just the thing for the slide. It was in better shape than it's been in a long time. The ski tow was in operation, pulling participants up the hill.

The length of the main slide is estimated around seven hundred feet, with the steepness varying somewhere between 15 per cent and 30 per cent.

A meeting of the Omaha Ski Club, and all interested in skiing, is scheduled next Sunday night at the YMCA. A ski movie is included on the program, set to start at 7:30.
