

Ski Anywhere in Wisconsin; Choice Includes 50 Resorts

Want to go skiing? In Wisconsin your choice is easy. The Badger State has more than 50 ski areas, and some are very near.

For instance, nearby areas include Dyracuse Mound and Powers Bluff.

Dyracuse Mound is 16 miles south of Wisconsin Rapids on Highway 13. It is owned and operated by Tri-Norse Ski Tow Company and has three slopes up to 800 feet in length. Open hours include Saturday noon to 4:30 p.m., Sunday 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and night skiing by request.

Powers Bluff is 17 miles northwest of Wisconsin Rapids and has a 350-foot hill with 1,100-foot rope tow. Ski runs are 1,300, 1,400, and 1,500 feet. A beginner's slope is also available.

One of the major ski areas within easy driving distance is the big Rib Mountain resort, 2½ miles southwest of Wausau. A vast 3,200 ft. open slope, it has daily operated tows, shelter building, including restaurant, ski shop, ski rental equipment, lounge, and first aid room. Skiing under lights is available Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 7-9:30 p.m. on the lower open slope. A ski-jumping layout is at Brokaw, 8 miles away.

Not far are large ski resorts at Mt. Telemark at Cable, Mus-Ski Mountain at Lakeland, and Sheltered Valley at Three Lakes. All have slopes varying in length from 200 to 2,600 feet. Mt. Telemark operates daily until March 10, while Mus-Ski has night skiing Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.
